

INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS – ADVANCED OIL AND GAS CONTRACTS, SPRING, 2010

Before the first class, please do the following:

Read the syllabus. It is not a traditional syllabus, but it will give you an idea of how this course is taught, and what is expected.

Please send me an e-mail. If you are able to attach a V-card, please do so. If not, please make sure that you provide me with the following information: Your name, as it appears on the Law School's records. If you prefer to use a nickname, please tell me. If you have a cell phone that reads text messages, please let me have that number. If I ever have to miss class, it may be a last minute thing, so being able to text you may save you a trip to a non-existent class. A photograph would be appreciated as well – it helps me to learn student's names.

The course is run from the web board. There is no text, so you have to be able to log into the web board. If you don't know how to log into the web board, or how to download messages and information from it, go to the law center and navigate to Home > Students > Course Info/ Schedule > Online Course Discussions. If you still have a problem after that, please check with the IT help desk and they might be able to help you.
