

SYLLABUS AND CLASS PLAN FOR PATENT REMEDIES & DEFENSES
SPRING 2013
PROF. JANICKE

Required materials: Casebook, P. Janicke, Modern Patent Litigation (Carolina Academic Press, 3rd ed. 2012 – publisher will make e-version available); copy of the patent statute, 35 USC. (The pre-AIA version is acceptable for purposes of this course, although the revised version made a few changes to patent litigation and defenses.)

Recommended text: For those who feel the need for an additional book in text form, I suggest H. Schwartz, Patent Law and Practice, 7th edition, published by BNA. It is available online from Amazon.com [$175].

General: The course is designed to highlight in depth the principal substantive law issues, and a few jurisdictional and procedural ones – that are most commonly encountered in patent litigation today, ones that do not arise in Patent Office practice and that are not covered seriously in any basic patent law course. This course will follow my casebook, Modern Patent Litigation. We will treat the cases rather thoroughly, and as a result will on average cover only six cases per class session. We will construct and discuss several variant fact patterns of some of the cases.

You will also need to bring the patent statute to each class.

The content of the course, and the approximate dates for coverage of the various parts, are as follows:

CLASS PREPARATION

I will randomly call upon you in class. I will have the discretion to raise or lower any student's final grade by one grade level. This aspect of your grade is obviously not anonymous.

QUIZZES

Students seem to like the idea of two quizzes during the semester, counting in the aggregate for 10% of the final grade. These will have to be multiple-choice questions, due to practical time constraints. We will discuss the advisability of these during the first class.
