DAN L. BURK

PROFESSOR DAN L. BURK IS THE OPPENHEIMER, WOLFF & DONNELLY PROFESSOR OF LAW AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA, where he teaches courses in Patent Law, Copyright, and Biotechnology Law. An internationally prominent authority on issues related to high technology, he is the author of numerous papers on the legal and societal impact of new technologies, including articles on scientific misconduct, on the regulation of biotechnology, and on the intellectual property implications of global computer networks.

Professor Burk holds a B.S. in Microbiology (1985) from Brigham Young University, an M.S. in Molecular Biology and Biochemistry (1987) from Northwestern University, a J.D. (1990) from Arizona State University, and a J.S.M. (1994) from Stanford University. Prior to his arrival at the University of Minnesota, Professor Burk taught at Seton Hall University in New Jersey. From 1991 to 1993, he was a Teaching Fellow at Stanford Law School. He has also taught as a visitor at a variety of prominent institutions, including Cornell Law School, the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Toronto Faculty of Law, University of Tilburg, the Munich Intellectual Property Law Center, and the Program for Management in the Network Economy at the Universita Cattolica del Sacro Cuore in Piacenza, Italy.
