SELECTING COURSES

Student are assigned a faculty advisor who approves all course selections to ensure that selections meet program requirements and are consistent with the student’s goals. Follow the steps below to select courses and for course approval.

Step 1: Review Class Schedule

Go to http://www.law.uh.edu/schedule/homepage.html for the fall 2017 class schedule (available in late March). The schedule includes the following information:

- Courses by Categories. To view all courses in a category (for example, international law), click “search by category.”
- “Course Area” identifies the specialty area of a course. For example, if the course area is “International Law,” that means the course qualifies as meeting the specialty credit requirement for students in the International Law program.
- Credit Hours. All LL.M. programs are 24 credits. “Credit” refers to the amount of time a class meets each week for one semester (August-December and January-May). For example, a three-credit course meets twice a week for a total of three hours each week for one semester. The number of credits for a course is indicated by the second digit of the 4-digit course number. (Course 9399 would be a three-credit course.)
- Meeting Time and Days. M (Monday), T (Tuesday), W (Wednesday, Th (Thursday), F (Friday). Classes are not scheduled on Saturday or Sunday.
- Course Description. Click the course name for additional information such as the professor, required textbook, first day assignment, course outline and course syllabus. Some of the information may not be available until the week before classes.

Step 2: Select Courses

Carefully read the course description. When selecting courses, consider your degree requirements, the two required courses (Introduction to American Law; Lawyering Skills and Strategies) are scheduled and visa requirements or restrictions.

- Students who plan to take a bar exam (see “Bar Examination Information for Non-US Educated Attorneys”) should review the list of required courses, if any, to ensure that eligibility requirements are met. (Note: meeting both the LL.M. program and bar eligibility requirements may result in the completion of more than 24 credits.)

- Students typically register for 12-15 credits a semester.
- Do not select classes that meet at the same or have overlapping times.
- Are you in a specialty program that requires a specific number of specialty-specific credits?
- You can select back-to-back classes. For example, you can register for one class that ends at 4:00 and a second class that begins at 4:00. (Classes are dismissed a few minutes before the published end time. All classes are at the Law Center.)
- F-1 visa students must register for a minimum of nine credits every semester. An F-1 visa student can register for less than nine credits ONLY if it is the student’s last semester and the student has submitted a Reduced Course Load form (available in the Graduate Legal Studies Office at the University of Houston Law Center). Students on other visas are responsible for complying with the credit hour requirements or restrictions of their visa.
- Students who are U.S. citizens, permanent residents or those who have no visa restrictions or requirements can register for as few as three credits during the fall and spring semesters but must complete all program requirements within three years of their admission date and be continuously enrolled every fall and spring semester. (NOTE: bar eligibility requirements may require program completion in less time.)

Courses offered during the fall semester are typically NOT offered during the spring semester. If a tentative schedule for the next semester is posted, check BOTH schedules. This is especially important for students who plan to graduate in two semesters.

The fall semester begins in early August and ends in mid-December. The spring semester begins in early January and ends in mid-May. Classes are offered during the summer in two six-week sessions or one twelve-week session. There are fewer courses offered during the summer than in the fall or spring and there are no seminars offered during the summer.

Step 3: Faculty Advisor Approval: Procedure

Please note that the procedure for obtaining the approval is not the same for all programs.

- Health Law, Energy, Environment and Natural Resources, International Law, Tax Law, and LL.M. in U.S. Law

Contact your faculty advisor to introduce yourself and the program to which you have been admitted. While prerequisites generally do not apply to LL.M. students, providing information about your education and work history will assist your advisor in determining whether or not a particular class is a good “fit.” List the courses in which you are interested. Based upon the information that you provide (and, in some cases, Law Center policy) your advisor will approve your selections or make alternate suggestions. Students must obtain the approval of their faculty advisor for all coursework. Copy all email correspondence to llm@uh.edu.
approved courses on the “Course Approval Form” and fax to 713-743-2194 or email to llm@uh.edu.

- Intellectual Property & Information Law

For complete instructions, refer to the letter/email that you received confirming your admission to the program.

Step 4: Registration

Do not attempt to register online! We will register you for your approved course selections, including Introduction to American Law and Lawyering Skills & Strategies. If an approved class is closed or unavailable, students will be asked to contact their faculty advisor to select another course.

HOUSING

Housing options include residence halls on the University of Houston campus, student apartments adjacent to the campus and apartments located throughout the city.

Campus Housing (http://www.uh.edu/housing/)

Students who will not have their own transportation should consider campus housing or student apartments located next to the campus. Houston is a very large, metropolitan city and public transportation is limited. Bus service, for example, may not be available to the UH campus from an off-campus apartment, or, if available, may entail a ride of an hour or more.

- Campus and student housing near the campus fills up VERY quickly – typically by the end of February.
- “Furnished” does NOT include personal items such as bed linens, cooking utensils, sheets, etc.
- The Calhoun Lofts are located adjacent to the Law Center. Electricity, gas, water, cable, Wi-Fi, and local phone service are included. Several options are available: efficiencies, one, and two bedrooms. For more information, go to http://www.uh.edu/housing/housing-options/calhoun-lofts/.

If you select campus housing, it is important that you advise the housing office that you are arriving BEFORE the scheduled move-in date and discuss your options. In residence halls, for example, it may not be possible to move in early and you will need to make interim arrangements. You must request early check-in.

Deposits are NOT refunded after May 31. This applies even if the room reservation and deposit are made after this date.

Student apartments are located adjacent to the campus. All provide shuttle transportation to the campus and are within walking distance of the Law Center. It is important, when signing a lease, to confirm their deposit refund policy and their check-in date.

Cambridge Oaks 713.748.2606 www.cambridgeoaksuh.com
Cullen Oaks 713.748.3707 www.cullenoaks.com

The apartments at Cambridge Oaks are not furnished, but they will provide contact information for a furniture rental company. The furniture can be delivered to Cambridge Oaks and, with adequate planning, can be delivered before your arrival. Please note: the form on their website is an actual lease contract and, by submitting it, you are confirming your intention to lease an apartment. The form is NOT a way of showing interest or requesting placement on a wait list. Use the “notes” section at the bottom of the lease if you plan to arrive before July 31, are requesting other special accommodations, or arrive for check-in after 5:00 p.m. You can sign a nine or 12-month lease.

The apartments at Cullen Oaks are furnished and come in a variety of configurations: one, two bedroom, etc. Their online form is an application, only, and completing the form does not automatically ensure an apartment.

Apartment Locator services are free and help students find apartments located throughout the city.

About Apartment Rental: All apartments require a deposit, some of which may be non-refundable. There may also be an application fee. The tenant is usually responsible for electricity and other utilities. There are numerous electrical providers and the tenant is responsible for setting up an account and paying any deposit the provider may require.

HEALTH INSURANCE

Students with an “F” or “J” visa are automatically required to be covered under the UHS Student Health Insurance Plan (SHIP) or have equivalent coverage, regardless of the number of credit hours taken. The student will automatically be enrolled in the Student Health Insurance Plan at registration and be billed on their student financial account. The student health insurance coverage becomes effective on August 1.

A student may request a waiver of this requirement if the student shows proof of alternative coverage that is equivalent to the mandated student health insurance. The waiver must requested every semester by the deadline published for that semester.
Go to http://www.uh.edu/healthcenter/insurance/international-student-health-insurance-requirements.html for complete student health insurance information.

VISA

If you are entering the United States on student visa (F-1), an I-20 will be processed upon receipt of your Applicant Response form, Letter of Financial Backing and financial support documents and send to you by Federal Express. It is important that you arrive no later than the date indicated on the I-20. I-20’s are shipped via Federal Express.

If you are transferring from another U.S. academic institution and hold a F-1 or J-1 visa, you must request that the Designated School Official at your current institution initiate your SEVIS transfer to the UH System before an I-20 can be issued. Contact the Graduate Legal Studies Office for details.

B-1, B-2, or F-2 visa holders will not be permitted to register for classes until the F-1 visa is obtained.

Direct all visa eligibility and procedural questions to the University of Houston Office of International Student and Scholars Services (OISSS), http://www.uh.edu/oissss/.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

Go to http://www.law.uh.edu/lit/ for a description of IT support available to students, including special pricing for selected Dell and Apple computers.

TUITION AND OTHER EXPENSES

Tuition each semester is based on the number of courses (credit hours) for which a student registers and must be paid before the first class day.

Fee bills are generated each semester, with the first payment due approximately two weeks before the semester begins. The fee bill includes tuition University fees, and, if applicable, health insurance, campus housing and a parking permit. It is very important that you secure and confirm funding before registering for classes. Classes will be dropped for non-payment.

The University has several payment options, http://www.uh.edu/financial/payment/. Payment in full – or the first installment – is due approximately two weeks before the beginning of the semester. Courses will be dropped if payment is not received by this date. There is no guarantee that a student the dropped classes will be available when payment is made.

Students who anticipate making payment by a wire transfer should contact Laura Neal, Law Center Financial Aid Advisor, at lneal@central.uh.edu before the transfer is made. Fee bill questions should also be directed to the Financial Aid Advisor.

BANKING

If you are planning to open a bank account, keep in mind that banks offer a variety of accounts. Some require a minimum deposit, charge a fee per check, or have a monthly service charge. Some offer free automated (ATM) banking. TDECU, https://www.tdecu.org/, has an on-campus site. There is no monthly service fee.

BACTERIAL MENINGITIS IMMUNIZATION

Texas State law (SB 1107) mandates that ALL entering students under the age of 22 provide a certificate signed by a health care provider or an official immunization record verifying that a student has been vaccinated against bacterial meningitis. The date of vaccination must be within the last five years and at least ten days before the start of the semester. For foreign LL.M. students, the semester begins with orientation on August 7. Students living on campus will be required to wait 10 days after your vaccination date to move in. Students planning to receive the vaccine in the U.S. should plan to arrive no later than two weeks before the first day of classes/orientation. For more information, visit http://www.uh.edu/academics/courses-enrollment/policies/immunization/index.php.

DISABILITY ACCOMMODATIONS

Consistent with the Law Center’s goal of providing opportunities for all students to succeed, the Office of Student Services assists students who have special needs by providing reasonable accommodations. Accommodations are provided on an individual basis as circumstances merit them.

Accommodations may include:
- Reduced course loads
- Additional time for exams
- Assignment to classrooms where architectural access is best
- Obtaining taped texts
- Providing interpreters and readers

We have found that the sooner we know of your needs, the better we can accommodate you. If you think you have a disability that justifies accommodations, please contact Sharon Nellums-Goosby in the Office of Student Services as soon as possible to discuss the documentation necessary to verify the needs and whether or not accommodations can be provided. She can be reached at 713.743.2187 or snellums@central.uh.edu. DO NOT ASSUME because you identified a disability in your application that we are aware of it. With the large number of J.D. and LL.M. applications, this information cannot always be tracked.

LL.M. HANDBOOK

Refer to the handbook at www.law.uh.edu/llm/current/handbook.pdf for information on LL.M. requirements and academic matters, Law Center policies, student information and services, the Honor Code and:
- Attendance, course load and continuous enrollment requirement
- Hours and grade point average requirement for all concentrations and certificates
- Thesis
- Final examinations, including exam conflicts and grade appeals process
• Leave of absence or withdrawal
• Student services such as emergency loans, students with disabilities, problems (such as personal, health or academic), grievances, and petitions

Students are charged with knowledge of the contents of the handbook and are responsible for complying with all of the requirements, rules and regulations. Students are also charged with knowledge of all official email communications and information included in semester class schedules. Although every effort has been made to make this Handbook accurate and complete, the information provided is subject to change or correction at any time. Other rules, policies, or procedures may be added in the future as necessary. All updates will be announced in The Lex and the handbook will be updated with the changes duly noted.

BAR EXAMINATION OPTIONS FOR NON-US EDUCATED LAWYERS

Students considering taking a bar examination should review eligibility requirements and confirm eligibility requirements before beginning any LL.M. program. Only a state’s board of law examiners – not a law school - can confirm eligibility to take a state’s bar examination.

Can a foreign-educated lawyer practice law in the United States?

The answer is “yes” and “no.” To practice law in the United States, both US-educated lawyers and foreign-trained lawyers must pass the bar examination and be admitted in the state in which they intend to practice. Each state establishes requirements for eligibility to take the bar examination in that state. Foreign-trained lawyers are not eligible to the bar examination in most states.

Eligibility requirements vary from state to state and may include:
1. Completion of a U.S. LL.M. degree at an ABA-accredited school.
2. Completion of specific courses within an LL.M. program.
3. Practice in their home country for a specific period of time.

Information on bar eligibility requirements and an overview of the bar admission process is available at:

3. Texas Board of Law Examiners, www.ble.state.tx.us

COURSE SELECTION AND THE BAR EXAM

When selecting courses, students should consider both LL.M. program and bar eligibility (specific courses, for example) requirements. Meeting both LL.M. program and bar eligibility requirements may result in completion of more than 24 credits.

Texas Bar Exam

Effective October 1, 2014, revised rules published by the Texas Board of Law Examiners identify four ways in which a lawyer with a non-US law degree may be eligible to take the Texas Bar Exam. Only the Texas Board of Law Examiners can make a final determination regarding an applicant’s eligibility to take the Texas Bar Exam.

Anyone graduating AFTER October 1, 2016 must meet curricular requirements: Introduction to American Law, Lawyering Skills and Strategies, Professional Responsibility and six credits of subjects tested on the Texas bar exam.

New York Bar Exam

The New York bar exam has often been the choice for foreign-educated lawyers who complete an LL.M. program at an ABA-accredited law school. Only the NY Board of Law Examiners can determine an applicant’s eligibility for the bar exam. The application process is lengthy and students are advised to begin the application process before or during their first semester of LL.M. studies.

Eligibility for the New York bar exam (for foreign lawyers to “cure” a substantive or durational deficiency) requires completion of an U.S. LL.M. program and, within that program, the following courses: an introduction to U.S. or American law; legal research and writing; and six credits of courses that cover subjects tested on the NY bar. (Rule 520.6(b)(3)

New York Bar Examination Approved Courses
The following University of Houston Law Center courses have been approved by the New York Court of Appeals as meeting the eligibility requirements for the New York Bar Examination. ### ABOUT HOUSTON

Weather
Summers in Houston are generally hot and humid; winters are mild. A couple of thick sweaters, a coat, and a pair of gloves should provide enough warmth during the winter months. Light cotton casual wear, including a light jacket and/or sweater, is recommended for most months. You will also need to prepare for rainy weather with items such as an umbrella and rain jacket.

Electricity
Voltage: 120 volts at a frequency of 60Hz. All sockets follow Type A North American plug (also known as the flat blade attachment plug) which uses two flat parallel pins or blades. If you have a plug that is incompatible with the type A electric socket, you may need to find a type A electrical transformer.

Telecommunications
All phone numbers in the United States have seven digits and an area code, which is specific to each area of the country. In Houston, if you are calling a local number you dial the phone number’s area code and then the seven digits of the number. There are three area codes used in the Houston area: 713, 832 and 281. If you are calling an area code outside of the Houston area, you will need to dial 1, then the area code, followed by the seven digits of the phone number. Most numbers at the University of Houston have a 713 or 832 area code.

To call abroad (from the U.S.), you must dial the international code first, which is 011.

There are a variety of mobile phone companies available if you are interested in purchasing one.
