

4. Such a weight-lifting technique would ordinarily be considered a matter of athletic skill, not repeatable in an industrial sense, and therefore not patent eligible. However, United States Patent No. 5,498,162, issued on March 12, 1996, to Schaefer, provides an interesting counter example. Titled "Method for Demonstrating a Lifting Technique."