JUDGE PAUL R. MICHEL

JUDGE PAUL R. MICHEL was appointed to the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit in 1988, following 22 years of continuous government service. In his distinguished career, he has served as Assistant Watergate Special Prosecutor, Assistant Counsel to the Senate Intelligence Committee, Deputy Chief of the Department of Justice's Public Integrity Section, Associate Deputy Attorney General, and Counsel and Administrative Assistant to Senator Arlen Specter. He is a graduate of Williams College and the University of Virginia Law School.

Judge Michel has written over 200 opinions in patent, trademark, contract, tax, and international trade, and serves on the Committee on Intercircuit Assignments of the United States Judicial Conference. In 1999, he was the recipient of the annual Jefferson Medal Award for his outstanding contribution in promoting "the Progress of Science and useful Arts."

Judge Michel has served as an adjunct professor at the George Washington University National Law Center, and has taught master classes at the John Marshall Law School and Chicago-Kent College of Law. He has authored several articles on federal jurisprudence and improving patent litigation advocacy.

A frequent speaker, Judge Michel has addressed law school conferences and bar groups, including international intellectual property law associations. He has participated in the advanced training of judges of courts of various nations, including Russia, Romania, Sweden, Norway, and Argentina, for the Federal Judicial Center and other organizations.

Judge Michel is a member of the Board of Trustees of the National Inventors Hall of Fame, Inc., and serves on advisory boards for intellectual property at several law schools. He has also sat by designation of the Chief Justice with the United States Courts of Appeals for the Second, Third, and Ninth Circuits.
